

Katie Goldhahn

Head Coach

Volleyball

staging-og1.up.railway.app/p/katiegoldhahn

Biography

Head coach Katie Goldhahn was a member of the Stanford women's volleyball team from 2002-2006 where she won a national championship in 2004, was runner-up in 2002, and captained her team in 2005. She also received Pac-10 All-Academic Women's Honorable Mention in 2002, 2003, 2004, and 2005. Katie served as an assistant coach for San Jose State University where she also taught in the kinesiology department. Additionally she coached numerous prestigious club volleyball programs in the Bay Area and in her home town of Lodi, CA. Katie has achieved great success coaching at the club level taking multiple teams to the USAVB Junior National Championships and AAU Championships. She has also coached and taught at Modesto Christian and Excel Academy and the San Joaquin County Office of Education prior to CSM. "I am humbled to be given this opportunity to work at CSM amongst such talented administration, staff, and coaches. Being able to build a program from the ground up is a rarity, I'm thrilled to begin."
